Golf Tournament

Pronounced Success

Cold and Cloudy Weather Did Not Dampen Ardor of Enthusiasts.

Although weather conditions were very unfavorable there was a good turnout of players at the Golf Tournament on Wednesday afternoon and a very pleasant time resulted. There were thirty entries in the different events and some exceptionally keen contests for honors ensued. Following are the prize winners:

Gentlemen's Singles.—1st G. Kellock, Coleman, dozen golf balls; 2nd, Mr. Lemay, Blairmore, half-dozen golf balls.

Ladies' Singles.—1st, Mrs. F. Smith, Hillcrest, golf bag; 2nd, Mrs. Dr. Ross, Hillcrest, golf club.

In the approaching competition Dr. Ross was the winner, the prize being a mashie niblick.

Mr. Kellock handed in a card of 41, whick, after deducting his handicap of 7, left a net score of 34, which is the lowest made on the Coleman course.

The local branch of the Red Cross served refreshments on the course during the afternoon some $30 being realized for that organization.

Officers of the local club are to be congratulated on the success achieved as there is not the slightest doubt there would have been a record attendance had the weather been more favorable.

C. P. R. Station Men

Meet in Coleman.

C.P.R. dispatchers, agents and telegraphers held their monthly meeting here on Sunday in Pissey's hall, some twenty-five representatives from the Lethbridge division being present. The boys are a cheerful bunch and good feeders, and their presence in town was quite enlivening. While here they were treated to a drive to the lake by local auto owners, for which courtesy they requested the Bulletin to express their appreciation and thanks.

Crown Prince's Army

Is Caught in Trap.

Allied Advance is Squeezing in Sides of Soissons Salient.

The war news this week have been all our way. The German offensive has not only been stopped but a most successful counter offensive has been carried out. The Germans have lost over 20,000 men in prisoners along and large numbers of guns and quantities of war material. The allies are still making progress but the resistance is stiffening steadily, possibly to permit of an orderly retreat being carried out.

Latest reports are to the effect that the army of the Crown Prince is practically trapped in the Soissons salient, and the allied forces threaten to cut off. Should this occur it would prove a staggering blow to the Germans, from which it is doubtful if they would ever recover.

RED CROSS NOTES

Received from sale of refreshments at the Golf Tournament, July 24th, $31.25. Expenses: Water, 1.00; rent of dishes, $1.00; washing dishes, $2.00, total $4.00. Net balance, $27.25.

Indian Children Are

Holidaying Here

Victoria School Pupils Camping at Good's Ranch.

The children from the Victoria Home Brockets are now in Camp at Good's ranch, two miles west of here. They arrived in Coleman on Monday, July 15th, and are now located at a pleasant spot not far from Mr. Good's house.

The Rev. W. R. Haynes, the Church of England Missionary to the Peigan Indians, came along with the party and spent the first two days with them making the necessary arrangements for their comfort.

Those in camp are Mr. W. H. Giggle (principal of the school), and wife—Miss M. B. Phibbs (Boys Matron); Miss A. R. Anderson (Girls Matron), and the following children:

Girls—Susie Warrior, Annie Crow Shoe, Louie Knowlton, Annie Bull Pen, May Bull Pen, Maggie Sarceen Man, Eva Potts, Mollie Little Plume, Alice Big Smoke.

At the moment of writing the children are all well and thoroughly enjoying themselves. Open air games and visits to the town have fully occupied their time. The ordinary work of camp is so methodically arranged that the children are having a real holiday and should all derive great benefit from their stay in the mountains.

According to present arrangements they will stay at least a month in our midst. On Sunday morning there was a service in Camp conducted by the principal. In the evening everyone attended St. Alban's church Coleman where Service was conducted by the Rev. H. Clay, incumbent. Weather permitting they will follow the same plan on each Sunday of camp. The reverent and devout way in which the children each took part in the service is a splendid testimony to the work of the Indian Schools on the Reserves and reflects great credit to the Missionary-Principal and School Staff. The presence of the children is creating considerable interest in the town and district where their fine behaviour has produced such a favorable impression.

ICE-WATER NEWSPAPERS

Under the caption "Ice-Water Newspapers That Work for the Kaiser," the Calgary Herald, among other things, says:

"And in Canada we have some, which, if they are nothing worse, are patriotic in an ice-water sort of way. They may not think so but they are doing just what Germany would pay them for doing—they are criticizing the Government on petty grounds, they are continually throwing out suggestions that the Government is taking unconstitutional means for securing soldiers under the Military Service Act, and they are taking every opportunity to tell the farmers that $2.20 isn't enough for their wheat. It is just such insidious stuff that the German propagandists are experts in handling, and we are sure that Kaiser Bill would like to hand out a few iron crosses to his newspaper friends in Canada."

If Kaiser Bill has any newspaper friends in Canada, "although they may not think so," it is the ones who write this kind of stuff. This "no criticism" campaign, with the threat of being branded as a pro-German if you do, should please Kaiser Bill if anything would because it is an imitation of his own methods. Followed to its logical conclusion traitors would be running France; there would have been no change of Government in Great Britain and no Union Government in Canada. The idea of branding critics as the result of German influence and propaganda, has been used considerably in the country, but the newspapers fostering this sort of thing seem to feel immune from the result if they wish to criticize, as they frequently do.

MUST APPLY FOR CONCILIATION.

In future either employers or employees who cause a strike or walk out without first applying for a board of conciliation and awaiting its award will be prosecuted by the Dominion authorities. The prosecutions will take place under the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act of 1907. While this is to a certain extent locking the stable before the horse is out, it may prevent in future the waste of labor that has been occurring during the past few months.

A GRAND JUBILEE

It is a matter of universal congratulation that the amount of illicit drinking of liquor is growing daily less. The quantity on hand at the present time for bootlegging purposes is rapidly diminishing. It has been suggested that the whole province have one grand Jubilee and drink up the whole quantity that is now in the hands of the bootleggers. —The Searchlight.

This would be merely a case of removing an evil by getting at the root of it. The public suggestion should prove popular from a Temperance standpoint, but need not be carried to the extreme of any bootlegging.

AN EGG WAY TO

The latest method of smuggling liquor illegally is by the use of empty egg shells. The shell is pierced and the contents blown out while the shell is irrigated by having the shell filled with John Burley's Red Seal.

RE FOREST FIRES

Pinsker Creek, Alta., July 22, 1918.

Sir: In the interest of conservation and increased production, I would be very much obliged if you will allow me space in your paper, to call the attention of campers and fishermen who anticipate camping trips into the mountains to the very serious danger of forest fires during the present season. If the present dry, warm weather continues, we will undoubtedly have with in the next few weeks a situation unequalled during our experience in protecting the forests from fire. In addition to the necessity of preserving existing and prospective stands of merchantable timber and forest cover which is a primary factor in regulation of stream flow on the prairie, we have this season in the mountains many thousands of head of cattle, horses and sheep utilizing during the summer months the mountain range wherever available. Should fire occur, there is not only the danger of stock being destroyed but what is almost as important, the range which is at present sustaining this stock would be destroyed, necessitating their immediate removal back to the prairies. It will readily be seen therefore that the immediate results of forest fires would be nothing short of disastrous.

All prospective campers are most urgently requested to co-operate with us in protecting the forest from fires. A great many people do not realize how easily a fire may get started. The following fundamental rules should always be observed.

1. Select the barest and most open spot available for your camp-fire, and clear it as far as practicable of all combustible material.

2. Never leave camp even for a few minutes without putting out your camp-fire completely.

3. Never drop lighted matches or tobacco into the woods.

4. Should fire occur, do your utmost to put it out and do not delay to notify the nearest forest ranger or rancher. Thanking you for publishing this letter, I remain,

Your obedient servant,
R. M. BROWN,
Forest Supervisor,
Crowsnest Forest Reserve.

American Army Will Be Increased To 5,000,000

Washington, July 23rd.—Secretary Baker announced today that on reconvening of congress he would present it with his request for new appropriations, plans for modifications of the draft ages and a somewhat larger military mobilization.

The plan concerns the mobilization of a huge American army, probably upward of five million men. No announcement was made as to whether the draft ages are to be lowered or raised, but it is known that the prevailing judgment of the secretary's advisers is to lower them.

PLANS FOR TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT BY AIR ROUTE TO THE WAR FRONT

AMERICA TO BLAZE A NEW TRAIL TO EUROPE
United States' Full Power of Airplane Craft to be Brought Against The Huns, and Bombing Warfare Into Germany Will Be Made on Large Scale

The establishment of an air route to Europe from the United States, in order to bring the full force of American effort in the air to bear against German power in the sky, has been decided upon. A definite project by the British air council, the new organization into which all British air service has been merged. This was disclosed by Major-General Sir Hugh Trenchard, controller of equipment on the council, who is in Washington to discuss this and other projects relating to air warfare with American officials.

Plans for an initial flight across the Atlantic in August, September or October of this year are already well advanced. American co-operation is sought and General Brunker, premier, has agreed to make the crossing which will fly both British and fed for the trip. At least three British pilots are now here, and several types of machines produced in England have fuel tanks for the fortune of flying it is estimated the trip would take.

The attitude of the American government toward the project has not been disclosed, though General Brunker's first stress on the fact that the sole purpose of the trip was to blaze a new trail to Europe, over which American aircraft can be delivered next year.

Assuming, presumably, it arises from the fixed position of the British air ministry to carry the bombing warfare into Germany on a steadily increasing scale until no neutral spot in the German Empire is safe from allied bombers. The point made by General Brunker favoring the employment of British equipment for the venture is that the new Rolls-Royce 375 horse-power engine, developed last year, is so powerful and reliable that it can practically insure no difficulty from this source. The American Liberty motors, he said, are admittedly better performance than the Rolls-Royce, but lack of heat and give greater power, but they have not yet reached the status of reliability of the Rolls-Royce. The general was certain, however, that Liberty-driven aircraft could be crossing the ocean in fliers next summer.

Under any consideration, a seaplane carrying at least 750 horsepower will be the first craft to attempt flight. Under similar conditions have been made for the touch of airplanes at the Azores en route, which is a difficult matter owing to the rugged contour of the islands, landing that the flight will have to be made in the harbors.

As the trip is now projected, it would start from British soil in Newfoundland, touch at the Azores and land in Portugal and conclude in Ireland, probably to be received after overland to France. While this is not the shortest route, it is said to offer better weather and better opportunity to forecast the weather in advance.

The Americans have been conferences with American meteorological experts in this regard.

The governing factors of the flight were given by the British officer as engine reliability, navigational and weather forecasts. The probable loss of machines en route could be minimized, he believed, when the weather forecasts had been fully worked out and flights were established only when it was determined that the good weather would prevail.

The use of weight-carrying machines, such as night bombers, is essential, as the British officer capably stated, to be destined to haul high explosives to German centres, selected for destruction, would go into extra fuel during the trip. The twin "Liberty" type of American engines, built to their own designs and now in production in the U. S. on steadily increasing scale, meet these requirements. Many of these planes have already been shipped and the day is believed near when officials will be in sight when the production will far exceed shipping facilities. For that reason it may be that the navy, instead of the army, will undertake to develop the air route en route in conjunction with the British.

Great Deposits of Anthracite on Peace

Large Quantities of Anthracite in the Neighborhood of Hudson Hope

G. Stege, a prospector who has been working on the head waters of the Peace River, has arrived at Peace River town for a while. He states that there are rich deposits of gold, silver, copper, galena, and lead in the country from Hudson Bay westward to the sources of the Parsnip and Nodaway rivers, and he predicts that there will be prospects of mining camps there as soon as railroad transportation facilities have been provided. He also states that there are great deposits of anthracite east in the neighborhood of Hudson Hope, which will be available by the construction of the Prince George and Eastern railway. This coal has been tested by several of the Canadian and United States assayers, who agree that it contains more per cent more fixed carbon than the best Pennsylvania anthracite.

At a sale of school lands in North Battisford district prices ran from $10 to $55.50 per acre for raw land.

Why China is Unable to Help Prevented by Financial Difficulties From Aiding Allies

Chinese soldiers are available for co-operation with the Japanese, at least in the areas near the Siberian frontier. And if necessary more will be sent, Gen. Tuan Chi Jul, the Chinese premier and war minister, told the Peking correspondent of the Daily Mail in the press conference.

"The threatening situation on our frontiers certainly demands safeguards. We do not want the Bolsheviks in China."

With reference to Chinese participation in the war on the European battlefronts, the premier said:

"I would like to help the allies, and we would send 40,000 or 50,000 troops, but we are prevented by financial difficulties and the activities of the provincial rebels. I have sent 150,000 troops south."

"I am hopeful that the Canton rebellion can be suppressed soon, and then the main bulk of the troops can be released for service elsewhere. France originally suggested that we send troops to the western front, but quite a number of finance and lack of shipping compelled us to lay the proposal aside."

Regarding the feeling of the Chinese toward the Germans, Gen. Tuan Chi Jul said that the people generally could not distinguish between the Germans and other Europeans, adding:

"But the enlightened classes remain, because a mob of hill tribes can be easily forced to cede Tsin Tao and owing to that precedents like Port Arthur and Wei Hsi Wei were sliced from China. But for Germany China would be glad to help."

"Furthermore, it is impossible to forget that during the Boxer trouble German troops were ordered not to give quarter, while the invasion of the imperial palace by Port Arthur and Wei Hsi Wei was committed in our civilization, and will ever be vivid to the national consciousness."

"The Boxer rising itself was provoked by German bullying at Tsin Tao, and we know how the Kaiser's continual harping on the Yellow Peril."

The premier declared his intention of opening up China after the war by developing mineral deposits and extending railroads.

The Advent of Revolution

On the Eve of a Revolution of Our Habits and Thoughts

Would that men could see that we are living not only in the crisis of the greatest war that has ever affected mankind, but also in the Advent of a new epoch, when, with thousands of years have transformed civilization on earth. We are on the eve of what must prove to be a revolution of our habits and thoughts. Now in the course of revolution we move, change, appear and disappear with lightning velocity. Things which we imagine to be trifles suddenly swell up into incalculable forces. Changes which in normal times would be slow, are worked through in generations, spring up completed in months or weeks. New things which were Utopian dreams yesterday are truisms and facts today. The era of revolution has come. What persons remain what they were. All are inverted . . . There are moments when the war seems to be a mere triviality, when events would be won through in a few years, will become rich and profitable. The collection of revenue on the Euphrates no longer calls for efforts. Paying taxes has become an investment. An old shell sheikh said the other day:

"No other government but the British would take the trouble to both to both our canals while they are fighting."

Our government has not given the Arabs a republic and manhood suffrage and the Shorter Catechism, but they have cleaned out their canals, prepared them for navigation, prepared their fields for the harvest, and collected their taxes without machine guns or Uhlans.

It is respectfully suggested to the British government that he should consider the state of affairs behind the German armies in Russia, Belgium and Rumania, with the state of affairs behind the British armies in Persia and India. The men who stormed the Mole at Zeeburghe and cleared the canals of Mesopotamia can very well endure comparison in any field of labor with the deathly Hunns.—Robt. Blackford in the Sunday Chronicle.

Military Draft Treaty

Reciprocal Operation Army of Draft Laws Between Britain and the United States

Treaties between the United States and Great Britain for reciprocal operation of army draft laws to their citizens, including Canadians, were ratified by the U. S. senate without a dissenting vote.

British subjects in the United States between 20 and 44 years of age—the British draft ages—and American subjects in Britain between the ages of 21 and 31 would be subject to draft under the treaties, but they will be given the option of returning to their own countries for service under their own laws.

It is estimated that some 54,000 American citizens in the British empire, including 36,000 in Canada, and 310,000 British subjects in the United States, including 60,000 Canadian, will be subject to draft under the treaty. A new clause inserted in the treaty provides that citizens of signatory nations, except from the draft at home, such as the Irish and Australians, shall not be subject to draft in the country of their foreign residence.

Farm Employment Office

Every Canadian city, town and village now have farm labor bureaus where volunteers, who have no alterred their willingness to help on farms, may get in touch with farmers needing help.

Indemnity or Ruin Germany Recognizes Its Inability to Prevent Financial Bankruptcy

The war has so depleted the financial and economic resources of Germany that the power to levy indemnities upon her defeated opponents is but a remote necessity. The Prussians have gambled heavily on the result of the war. They cannot escape the obligation to continue increasing the stakes because their opponents will not settle for less than keeping up the game; in desperation the Germans must bid higher and ever higher. What is at stake for Germany was expressed most fully by the Kaiser's cousin, Frederick William of Prussia, at Berlin, in these words:

"The renewed sacrifices we have been compelled to make at the hands of our enemies, who have daintily rejected the hand of peace held out to them, justify us in demanding an economic and financial indemnification."

"The threatening situation on our frontiers certainly demands safeguards. We do not want the Bolsheviks in China."

"I would like to help the allies, and we would send 40,000 or 50,000 troops, but we are prevented by financial difficulties and the activities of the provincial rebels. I have sent 150,000 troops south."

France originally suggested that we send troops to the western front, but quite a number of finance and lack of shipping compelled us to lay the proposal aside."

"The present form of the alliance is inadequate. In view of the fact that vital questions are concerned, the strength of the alliance does not depend continually on the feelings at the moment. Successive treaties of short duration lapse. The union must be so intimately tied that the outcome of the question and the centre of gravity of the alliance must be laid an economic union."

After explaining why such a union offered bright prospects, Herr von Payer said that all these advantages would be lost if Poland and the northern border states were joined economically with the central empires. They would be enhanced by the攘夷 policy of the alliance.

Lacking such a policy, it implies to Germany the recognition of its inability to prevent financial bankruptcy and economic collapse.
